- (a) shall not take part in the discussion of the matter or vote on any questions in respect of the matter (although the Board member may be counted in the quorum present at the Board meeting);
 - (b) may remain in the room if the meeting is open to the public, but shall not take part in that portion of the meeting during which the matter giving rise to the conflict is under discussion, and shall leave the room prior to any vote on the matter giving rise to the conflict; and
 - (c) shall, if the meeting is not open to the public, immediately leave the meeting and not return until all discussion and voting with respect to the matter giving rise to the conflict is completed.
- 6.5. Unless the Board member is otherwise directed by the Board Chair, a Board member shall immediately take steps to resolve the conflict or remove the suspicion that it exists.
- 6.6. “BE IT RESOLVED THAT the June 28, 2016, open session minutes be approved”.

MOTIONS CARRIED

5. BUSINESS ARISING FROM THE MINUTES

5.1 Board Policy Development Process (C. Denesiuk)

A concern was raised at the June 28th meeting with regard to consultation of policies by stakeholders. A system will be implemented to allow for a 30 day consultation period prior to the final approval of the new or revised policy.

A website will be developed to facilitate a system to receive written comments. A policy or bylaw will be developed by the Director of Legal Affairs to implement this process.

Motion: R. Gakhal/A. Beaumont

“BE IT RESOLVED that the Okanagan College Board of Governors adopt the procedure of posting draft Board policies for consultation and feedback as presented”

MOTION CARRIED

5.2 Sexual Violence and Discrimination, Bullying and Harassment Policies (J. Hamilton)

Administration followed up with the three unions that raised concerns with regard to the Discrimination, Bullying and Harassment Policy following the June 28th meeting.

The challenge is to develop a fair practice that protects the privacy of individuals and, observes the College's obligation under the law, while still giving the unions sufficient information on the issue without automatically having to start the grievance procedure.

Discussions with the unions have been positive and continue.

6. PRESENTATION/DELEGATIONS

6.1 Foundation Annual Report (K. Butler)¹

The President of the Foundation sent his regrets as he was unable to attend the meeting.

The Foundation is a separate entity that supports programs and student awards. A hard copy of the Annual Report was provided to the Board.

Most of the funds last year came in for designated capital projects. Over $700,000 was transferred to awards last year, with the average award being $1,100 a person.

¹ The Presentation has been posted on MyOkanagan/Board Meeting/2016/Presentations

As of September 24th, the capital was $6,648,529.86. The Foundation has pledges of $6.2M for pay out over the next five years. Most of the large gifts are from individuals. The project currently being focused on is the Trades Training House in which gifts-in-kind have been received.

With regard to investments, the Foundation has a policy that requires 30% of the investments be socially responsible. The Investment Policy was recently revised to allow for more international investments. It is a balanced portfolio.

It was noted that the Board could assist the Foundation by being advocates and beginning conversation with potential donors, this can be achieved by attending Foundation events.

6.2 Regional Dean Report (J. Ragsdale)

The report covers the campus highlights. It was noted that the Salmon Arm region has a strong economic committee and School District 83 has seen a net increase in enrolment recently with 25% of new home purchases being young families. The region has a vibrant manufacturing community as well as tourism and agriculture, however, there is a skills shortage.

The Regional Dean highlighted the programs offered at the Salmon Arm campus. There has been a 23% increase in overall enrolment at the campus.

6.3 Student Survey (A. Coyle)²

The survey was conducted from February to April of 2016. This is the seventh year of the survey, the College alternates between the CCSSE (Community College Survey of Student Engagement) every two years and the Okanagan College survey. There is also an Aboriginal Student Survey done every year.

Highlights noted were:

- 90% of the students state Okanagan College has been a good experience;
- There was a 28% response rate. This is the best response rate over the last few years;
- The Director of Public Affairs highlighted the significant differences in this year's survey;
- The Leadership Team uses this survey to address issues identified in the College such as work on the online registration system that has been implemented. Administration has been working with Information Technologies on the responsiveness to the website as satisfaction with wireless has dropped. Wireless in the Centre for Learning has improved;
- Dissatisfaction of parking is still an issue. This could be because construction of the Trades building was occurring at the time of the survey, 100 spots have been made available now that this project is complete, as well angle parking has been implemented on East Campus Road;
- The Regional Dean is in conversation with the City of Kelowna to improve transportation. It was noted that the UPass does not work for Okanagan College students as a significant number of them travel between the region's communities;

J. Hamilton and K. Butler left the meeting at 9:56 a.m.

^{2 2} The Presentation has been posted on MyOkanagan/Board Meeting/2016/Presentations

7.3 Five Year Capital Plan (R. Daykin)³

There are six projects in the Plan that are being submitted to Victoria. The Master Capital Plan will come to the Board in November.

The projects are:

- 1) Trades Building in Vernon
- 2) Health Sciences Building in Kelowna. This building is old and needs to be replaced. Renovations would cost more than a new building.
- 3) Centre of Food, Wine and Tourism in Kelowna. This may be a mixed use building with residences.

^{3 3} The Presentation has been posted on MyOkanagan/Board Meeting/2016/Presentations

- 4) Student Housing in Vernon and Kelowna. These would be P3 partnership projects as the College is unable to take on debt for these projects.
- 5) Daycare in Penticton. This will be constructed in consultation with the Sustainable Management Construction and Residential Construction programs.
- 6) Trades Training House in Kelowna. Final approvals are underway with the City and the Province for this project. $800,000 has been received.

Motion: S. Johal/C. Gerbrandt

President's Report to the Okanagan College Board of Governors November 2016

Learner Readiness and Success

- From November 14th-18th the Kelowna campus came alive with sounds, tastes and performances from around the world during International Education Week, a week that has been created to celebrate and learn about the diversity of our students. Staff and students were invited to enjoy food and drink samples, interactive activities and performances from regions such as the Americas, the Caribbean, Asia, Australia, Africa, the Middle East and Europe.
- On November 21st we broke ground on the new daycare facility at the Penticton Campus. This $1.2 million dollar project received $500,000 in funding from the BC government and when opened in mid-2017, will be operated by the Penticton and District Community Resources Society.

ABORIGINAL STUDENT SATISFACTION SURVEY

2015/16 Summative Report

SERVICES
October 2016

Executive Summary

This summative report contains an analysis of the 2015/16 Aboriginal Student Satisfaction Survey results. During an 11-week survey period, 128 Aboriginal students enrolled at Okanagan College (OC) completed this questionnaire. 99 were completed online and 29 were paper submissions. There were 731 students eligible to complete the survey, giving the survey a 17.5 per cent response rate. While these results are not generalizable to the broader Aboriginal Student body at OC, they do provide a valuable snapshot of Aboriginal student satisfaction with our services and overall organizational culture.

This report highlights some of the successes for OC as well as issues that need to be addressed. Similar to previous reports, the demographic profile of the respondents reveals that many students are over the age of 30, have low household incomes, work while in school, require financial support to attend school, have family responsibilities, and are first generation students. Such life circumstances can have a drastic effect on retention rates, especially if the post-secondary environment is perceived as unwelcoming and unresponsive to their needs. As a matter of good practice, but also in response to current and past survey results, OC undertakes several measures to mitigate the effects of these circumstances.

Informed by previous surveys, literature and best practices, OC provides Aboriginal student services and programming geared towards enhancing student experiences and retention rates. In addition to recruitment and other core departmental service provisions, Aboriginal Services offers visiting Elders and cultural event programming (contingent on funding), as well as administers Aboriginal-specific awards and the Aboriginal Emergency Assistance Fund. These are a few measures that help engage students and alleviate challenges encountered during their studies. To foster a sense of belonging for Aboriginal learners on campus, the College also offers personalized and culturally relevant support and programming via the Academy of Indigenous Scholars, the Aboriginal Peer Mentoring Program and monthly workshops.

Over the past several years, the College has delivered a few key culturally-relevant events on campus (i.e. Annual Exhibition Powwow, Aboriginal Student Day, and Aboriginal Recognition Celebration) in order to create awareness as well as foster a more inclusive and welcoming environment. While Aboriginal Services attempts to provide an array of culturally relevant events and activities, 75 per cent of respondents indicated they wished to see more Aboriginal specific programming. Survey results also reveal that while respondents were satisfied with the array of student services provided by OC, it was also clear that a concerning number of respondents were not aware of these services or simply chose not to access them. This may be a reflection of the need to not only increase the awareness of the services available but also emphasize the value of these services. Despite efforts over the last several years to improve communication (for example, social media, promotional print material, CRM updates and a bi-annual newsletter), respondents note they would like to be better informed. One respondent suggested, "Maybe have an email invite to the Aboriginal activities, and I may build on my social support of the college..." Clearly, this will need to be addressed in the near future with new initiatives to include a better email communication system and more social media dedicated to enhancing Aboriginal Services communication.

With regards to marketing and recruitment, over 80 per cent of Aboriginal Students indicated that OC was their first choice, with location, programs offered, class size and reputation being primary deciding factors. Consistent with previous surveys, students indicated that they usually or always had a positive experience on campus both inside (87 per cent) and outside (91 per cent) of the classroom. While these are respectable numbers, the college should not discount the marginal number of bad experiences. Aboriginal Services offers valuable programming, space and supports that address many of the typical challenges associated with being an Aboriginal student, however it is clear there still needs to be concerted effort among the broader campus community to increase the level of intercultural understanding, safety and sensitivity. Key areas that are essential to fostering academic success include helping first generation, mature or returning students navigate the College as well as being sensitive to the realities of being a minority student. Improving academic readiness and skillsets is also vital for enhancing retention and fostering an overall sense of belonging or well-being.

Amendments to this year's survey included a series of health-related questions, notably an overall health indicator question. While a majority of respondents stated they feel their health is average or above average, there is still a concerning number of students who indicated their level of emotional and physical wellbeing was below average. Addressing this concern will involve increasing awareness of OC and community resources, as well as the provision of new or more services in this area. With a one-time Aboriginal Learners grant from the Ministry of Advanced Education (MAVED), Aboriginal Services will fortify our level of socio-emotional and health programming in an attempt to foster an enhanced sense of health and well-being among our students. In conclusion, the overall perceptions and experiences of Aboriginal Students at OC are positive. In fact, consistent with previous surveys, a majority of respondents indicated that they agree or strongly agree that OC respects and values Aboriginal culture (79 per cent), and that they feel comfortable while on campus (91 per cent).

HONESTLY THIS CAMPUS IS DOING THE RIGHT THINGS IN MY OPINION. I HAVE BEEN HELPED A LOT BY EVERYONE, I'M VERY GRATEFUL.

THE COLLEGE IS DOING A GREAT JOB, STUDENT UNION FEEDS US FROM TIME TO TIME, OTHER FUNCTIONS GIVES US LUNCH, WHICH SHOWS YOUR DEDICATION TO GIVING US STUDENTS A POSITIVE GRATITUDE TO ATTENDING YOUR SCHOOL.

- SURVEY RESPONDENT

How is Okanagan College assessing the level of satisfaction with Aboriginal Learners?

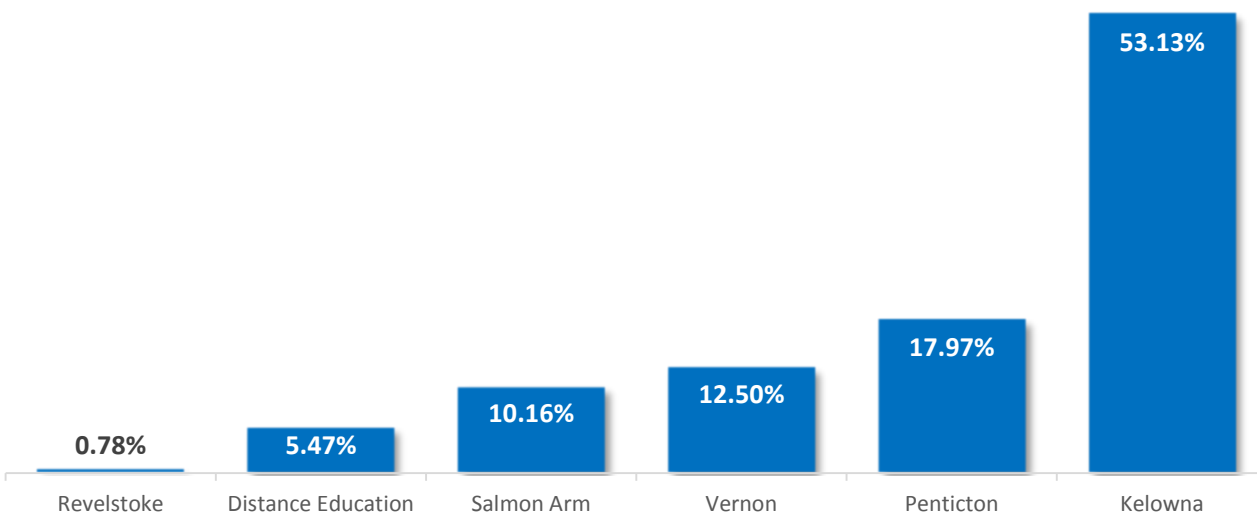

Okanagan College (OC) has made a commitment to enhance the success of our Aboriginal learners as identified in our Strategic and Education Plans. Aboriginal communities and students are of significant importance to our future success as an institution.

The following survey results are a snapshot of Aboriginal student satisfaction levels; providing OC with information about how well we are addressing student needs and experiences related to inclusion and respect.

Methods

Self-identified Aboriginal students registered in the Fall and Winter terms of 2015/16 were asked to complete a questionnaire either in person or online. The questionnaire was administered over an 11-week period from January 26th to April 15th, 2016. Given the focus on attitudes, the questionnaire relied heavily on Likert-type scales. Because of the descriptive nature of the results, causal inferences and generalizations to the broader Aboriginal Student body are limited.

Campus Location

Demographics

A total of 128 students returned the questionnaire out of an eligible 731, providing an overall response rate of 17.5 per cent. The response rate per campus, age grouping, gender and means of submission (e.g. online vs. paper) remain comparable to previous surveys. The mean age of respondents, however, continues to increase (e.g. 30.25 years in 2013/14, 31.51 years in 2014/15, and now 32 years in 2015/16). Although almost half the respondents had a household income that was less than $23,000 (46 per cent), 25 per cent chose not to disclose this information. Exactly half of the respondents were currently not employed. While a majority of the respondents indicated they were not responsible for a child at home, 26 per cent indicated they were responsible for at least one child, with a further 70 per cent of those students not accessing child care. Only 39 per cent of respondents had parents who had completed post-secondary education.

Pursuing Post-Secondary Education

Participants were asked to identify their motivations related to post-secondary education. Three questions were dedicated to this topic. Over 80 per cent of survey respondents indicated OC was their first choice. Out of a possible five choices, a majority of respondents indicated they chose OC because of its location (i.e. close to home). A very small percentage of respondents noted that there were other reasons for attending OC including distance education programs, resources, and transfer agreements. These trends are consistent with previous surveys and again highlight our successes in teaching and community programming. Data on students’ reasons for pursuing post-secondary education and their exit goals upon completing their respective programs are outlined below and are comparable to previous surveys.

Was Okanagan College your first choice of post-secondary schools to attend?

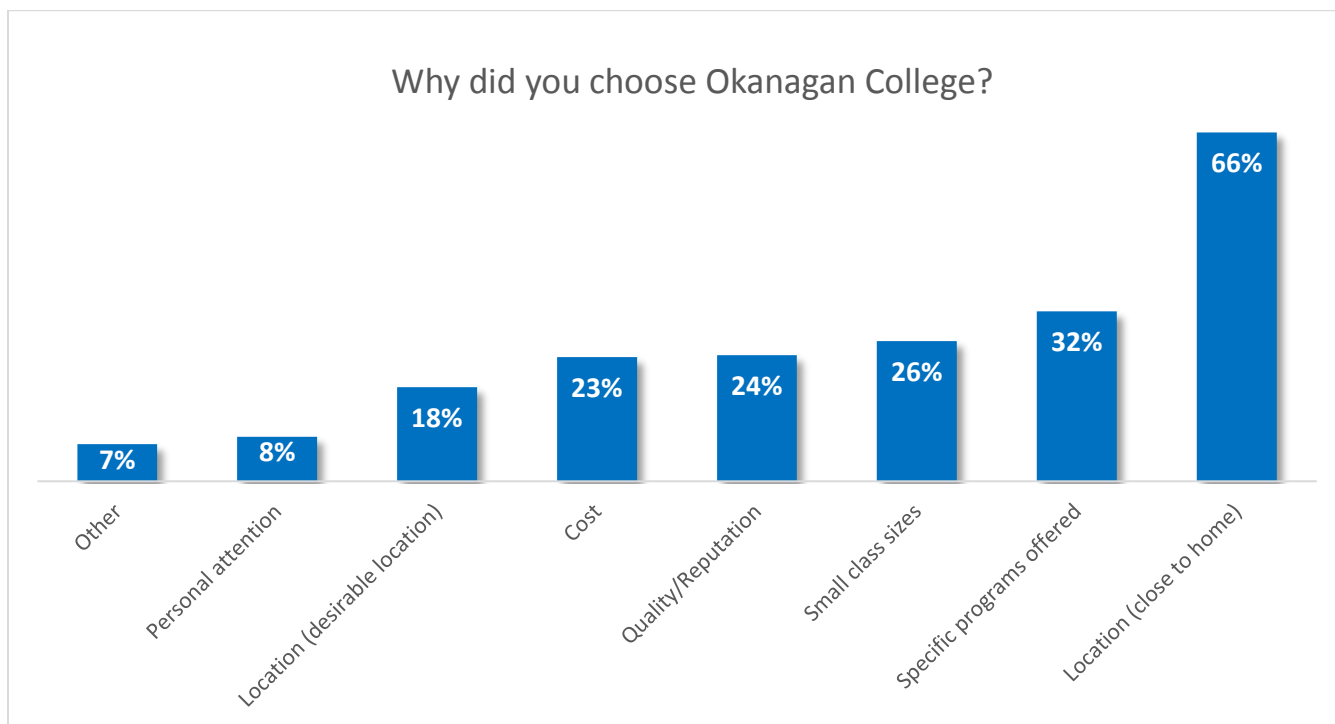

Program Enrolment Profile

- Arts and Foundational
- Science, Technology, Health and Social Development
- Business
- Continuing Studies
- Trades and Apprenticeship

What are your reasons for accessing post-secondary education?

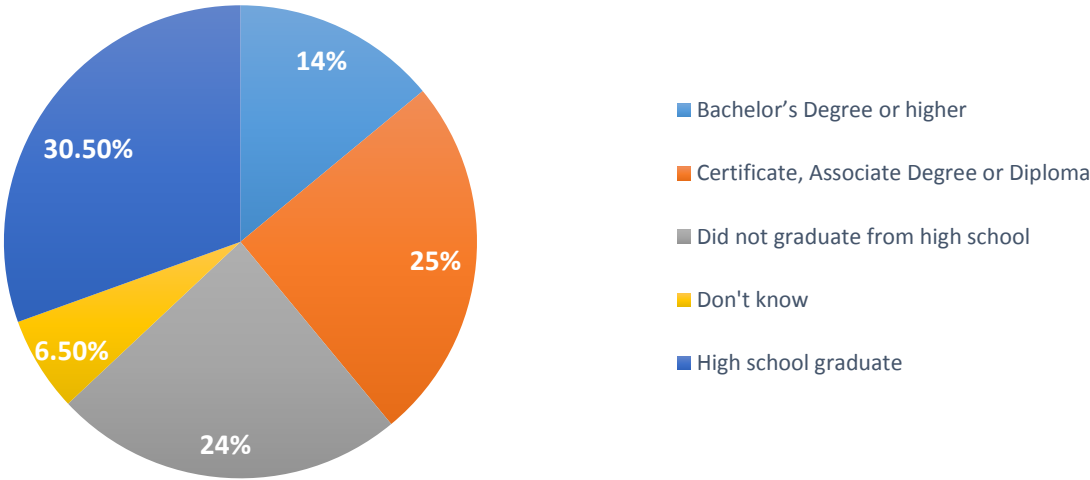

Financial and Social Supports

Financial and social supports are vital contributing factors to student retention. The next series of graphs provide an outlook on funding sources, income levels, and social support networks. Only 39 per cent of respondents had a parent who had some form of post-secondary education. Thus, consistent with literature and anecdotal student information, a majority of respondents are first generation post-secondary students. While many students may be the first in their families to attend post-secondary, most of the respondents (60 per cent) agreed or strongly agreed that they have family they can rely on for support while attending OC. Similarly, a large number of respondents (79 per cent) felt they had friends they can rely on for support as well.

Despite a commonly held assumption to the contrary, only 35 per cent of respondents had their education primarily funded through band or Métis sponsorship. Unfortunately, as noted by the First Nation Education Steering Committee (FNESC), the amount of funding provided through band or Métis sponsorship often does not cover the full cost of post-secondary. It is not surprising, then, that a majority of respondents sought other means to pay for their education. Some of those other sources included but were not limited to Social Assistance, grants and scholarships, employment, spousal income and the Adult Upgrading Grant.

What is the highest level of education attained by either of your parents/guardians?

I have family I can count on for help and support.

35-39	6.25 %	$23,001 - $29,000	5.47 %

■ No ■ Yes

If yes, how many children are you responsible for?

Services, Activities and Event Satisfaction

Students were asked to assess their level of satisfaction and awareness of the services offered at OC. It should be noted the service options presented to the participants were not limited to the Student Services Division nor were the service options specific to Aboriginal students. Survey results reveal that relatively few respondents were dissatisfied with any of the services they accessed. The Bookstore, Cafeteria and Admissions and Registration had the highest proportion of satisfied users. In fact, satisfaction with the Cafeteria increased 17 per cent from last year, perhaps indicative of the changes in food services in general, although some respondents clearly expressed a need for healthier, cheaper food options. One respondent indicated they would like to see “[h]ealthier snack during the winter/ more fruit and fresh veggies option at the cafeteria.” It is also important to note that there was a 13 per cent increase in satisfaction with Financial Aid and Awards, with a corresponding 7 per cent drop in respondents indicating they were not aware of the awards available. These improved statistical markers could be a result of the recent web, application and communication (general and targeted messages) changes to increase awareness of the awards. Consistent with previous years, many respondents were unaware of some of the services available to them. This is especially true for Accessibility Services, Counselling Services, Co-op Education, Graduate and Student Employment.

The level of awareness and satisfaction for Aboriginal student focused services are comparable to previous surveys. Print services such as handbooks and newsletters were used satisfactorily by only 42 per cent of respondents. The Aboriginal Services web page, meanwhile, was used by only 27 per cent of respondents. While some areas witnessed marginal increases in awareness, there remains a low level of awareness of Aboriginal Services reflecting the need to increase the number of student engagement activities, as well as to direct efforts to enhancing communication and to increasing awareness about Aboriginal Services.

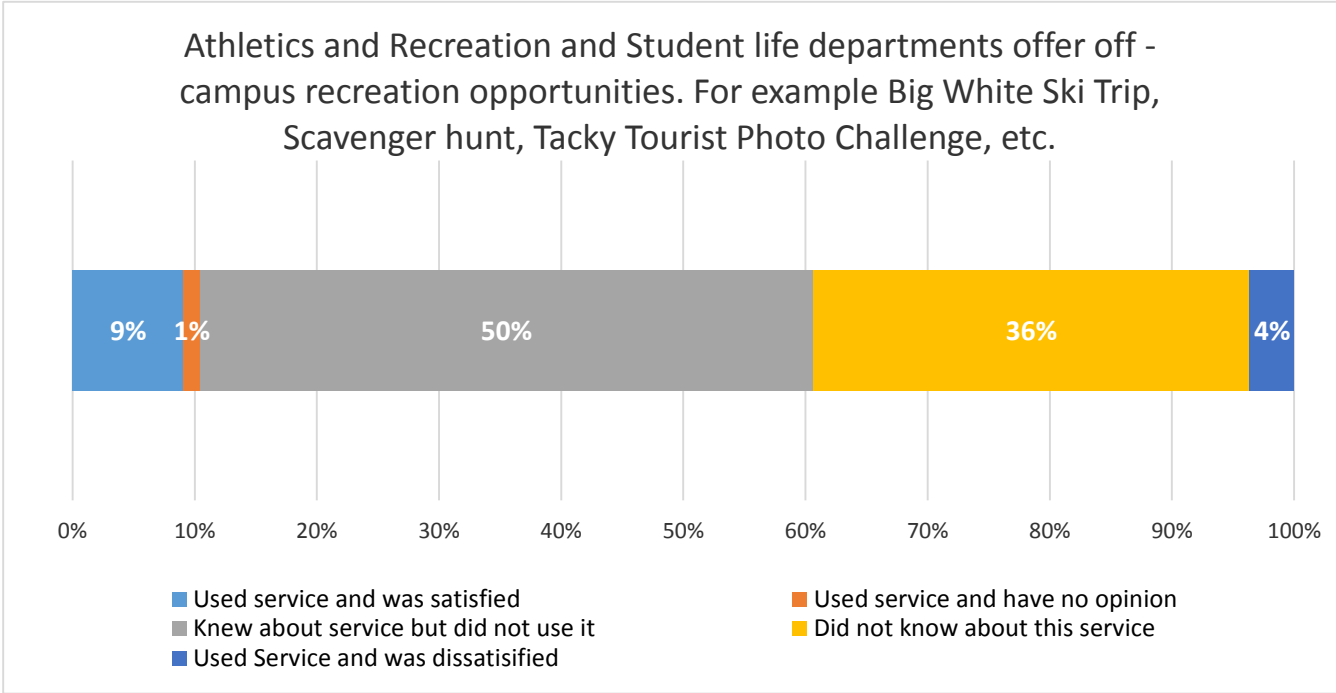

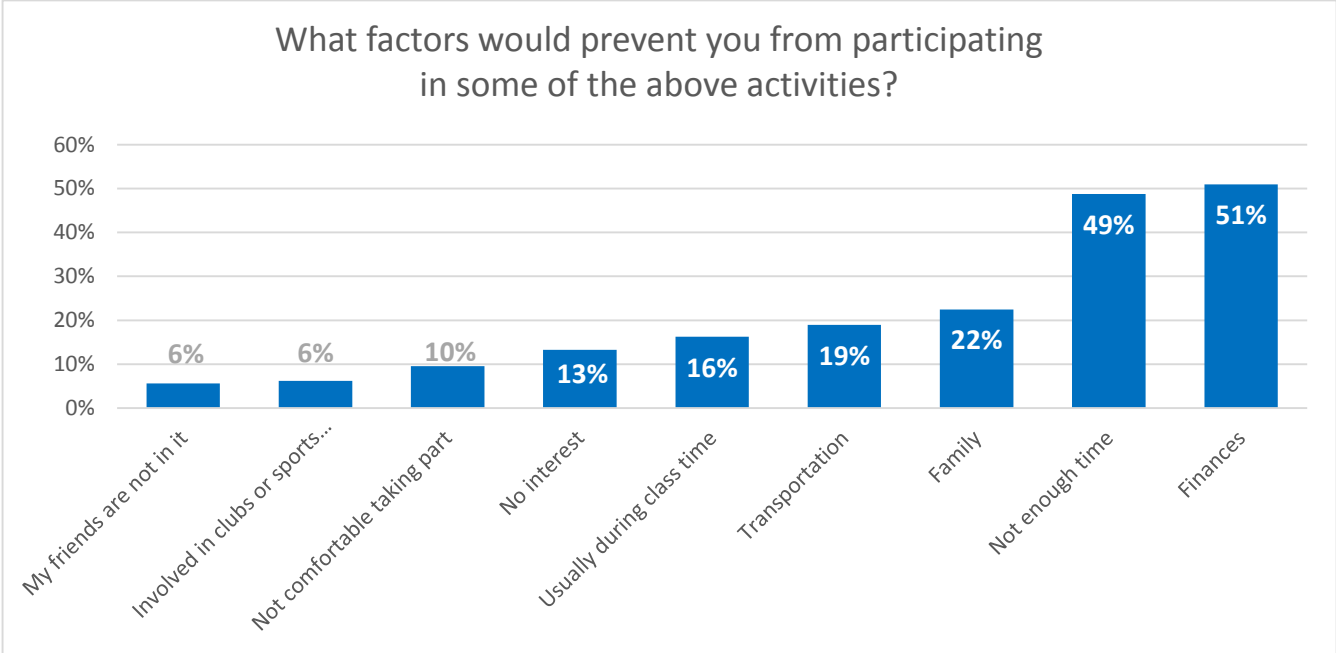

Please rate the following Okanagan College services using the scale provided below

How comfortable are you going into the fitness room/gym?

Are there any programs/classes regarding student health that you would like to be offered while you are on campus?

For this open-ended question respondents (n=43) indicated an interest in activities ranging from traditional food seminars to overall health information presentations. Other suggestions included fitness programming, healthy living strategies, stress management and dieting. More specifically a few key comments included:

- Healthy student living/help on study skills
- I think it is important that students learn about budgeting and meal planning.
- Maybe a class that focuses on everyday balance with work/school/family life

From the list below please mark the most likely sources from which you find out information about student services or events

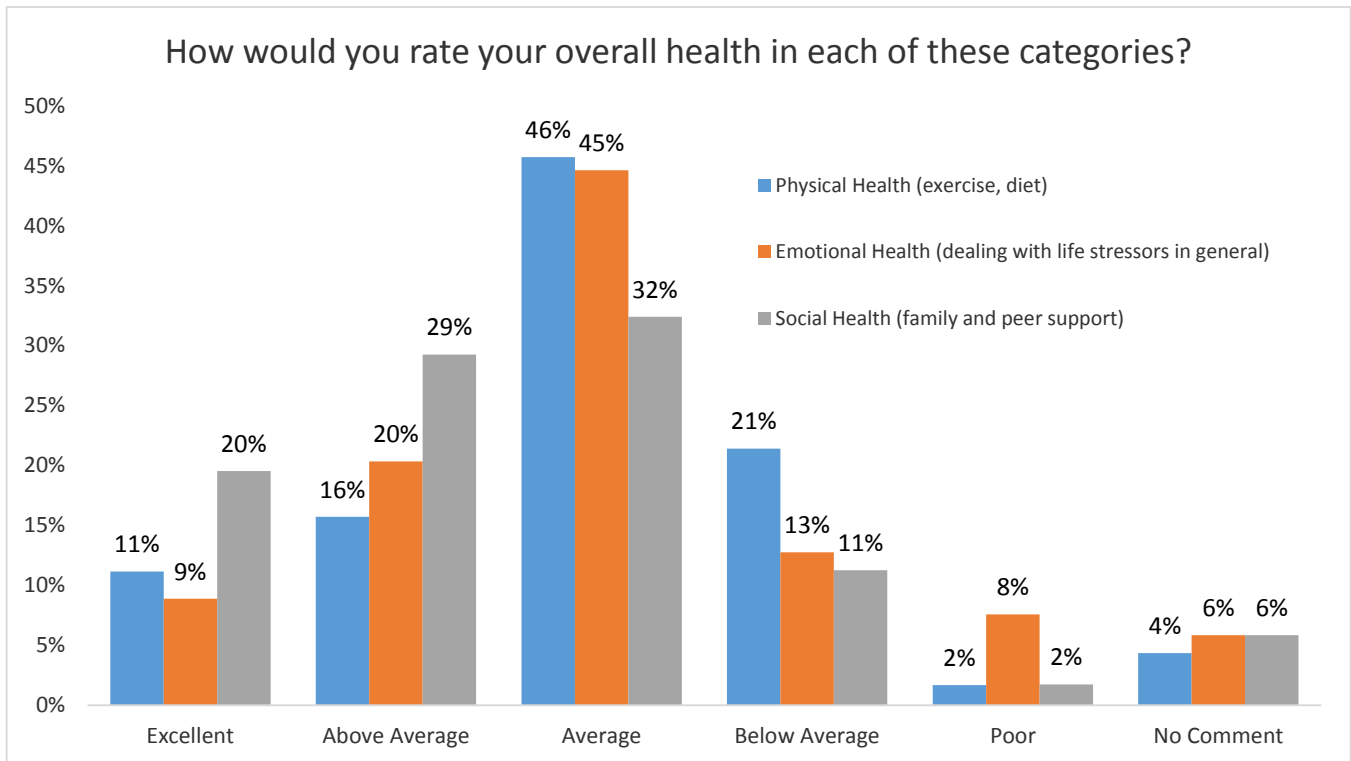

Would you like to see more Aboriginal cultural events/activities offered by Okanagan College?

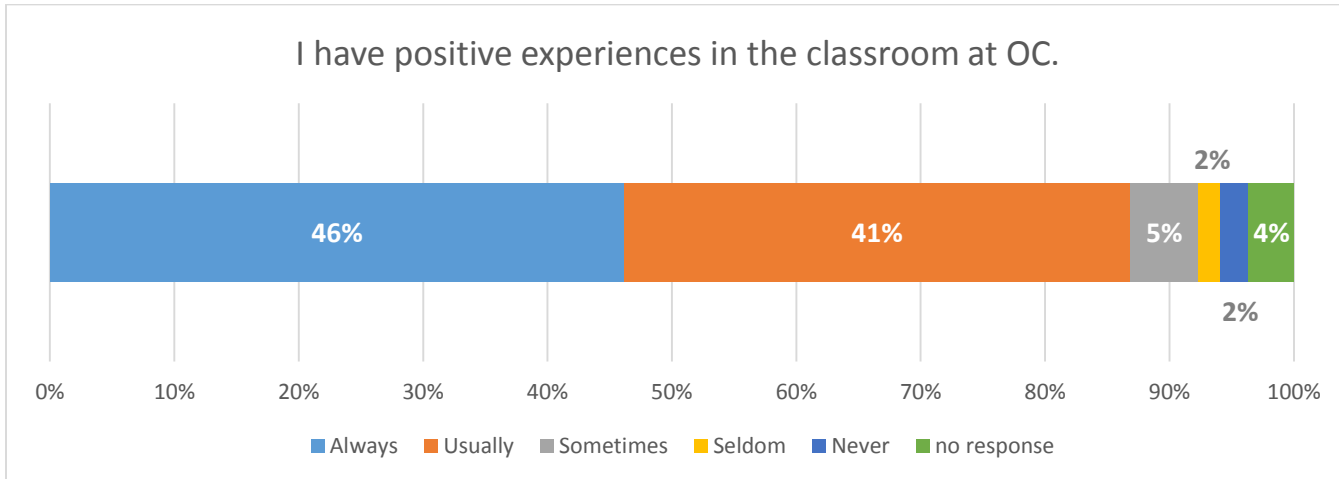

Overall Health and Student Experience at OC

New to this year’s questionnaire was the inclusion of health indicator questions. Namely, students were asked to rate their level of social, emotional and physical well-being. While a majority of respondents stated they feel their health is average or above average, there is still a concerning number of students who indicated their level of emotional and physical well-being was below average. Respondents were asked if there is anything OC can do to help our students achieve optimum health in all the categories above. Responses range from improving food choices/prices to enhancing the level of health programming. Applicable input will be incorporated into Aboriginal Services event planning. Several students gave praise for the programming that is currently offered. Some examples of suggested health programming were group therapy/talking circles, stress management, and running clubs. More specifically some responses include:

- Honestly this campus is doing the right things in my opinion. I have been helped a lot by everyone, I’m very grateful
- Lunch walk. Breathing class to learn how to breathe through stress
- Maybe start some team sports
- I believe financial support is key to lessening stress. By lowering students need to maintain a job while studying full time they can focus on studies and their personal mental and physical health. Somethings gotta give when students study and work a large amount of hours in the week and it’s usually health related

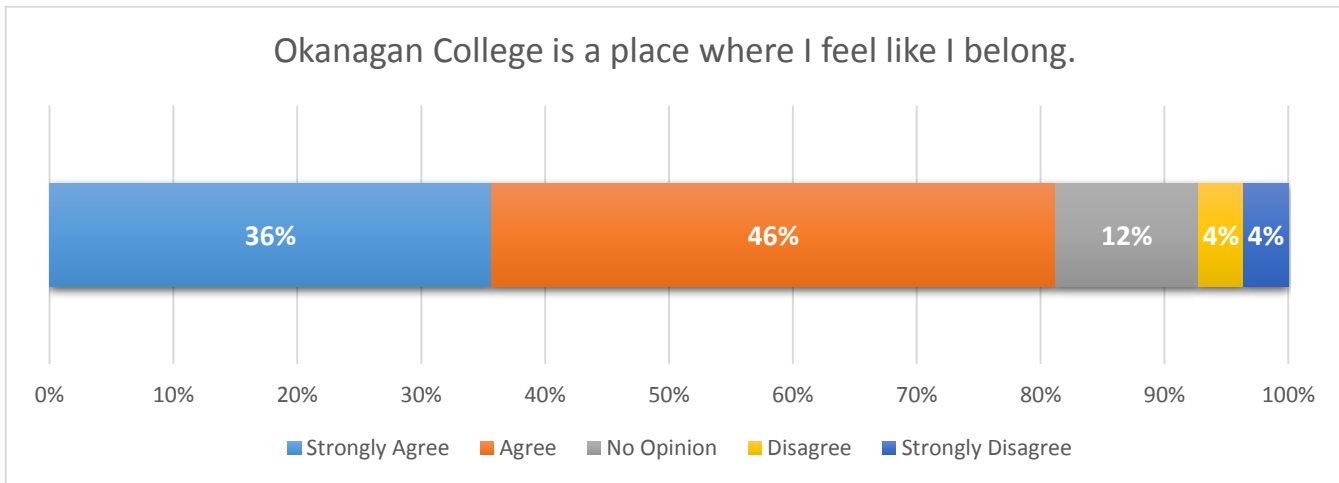

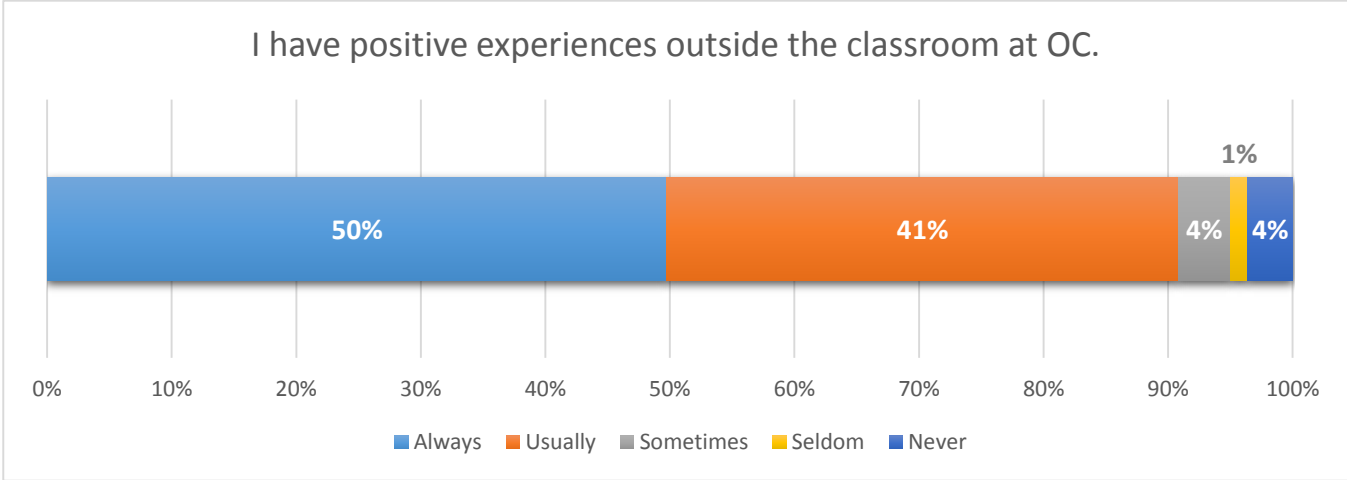

(Optional) Please clarify:

There were a diverse set of responses from over 25 students ranging from good to bad experiences. Some students were in distance education and don't have a classroom per se. Generally, professors and classrooms were spoken of in high regard. There are a few responses, however, that indicated the level of intercultural sensitivity and safety within the classroom is a concern. Key responses include:

- As I am older and have kids the ages of the students in my classes, I find that my age and experience sets me apart from the rest
- I say usually because there have been incidences (or lack of) support from peers when it comes to being an Indigenous person in the classroom learning. i.e. there is a sense of privilege and entitlement by students who are not Aboriginal and they act as if 'you' do not exist by way of completely ignoring you and your presence
- Sometimes I feel like I'm looked through rather than acknowledged
- My classmates are like family now, and the teachers are great, and understanding
- Not only am I being educated, I am being taught how to be a better person
- Small class sizes allow for meaningful and intimate dialogue. I feel like my success is important to staff and even other students

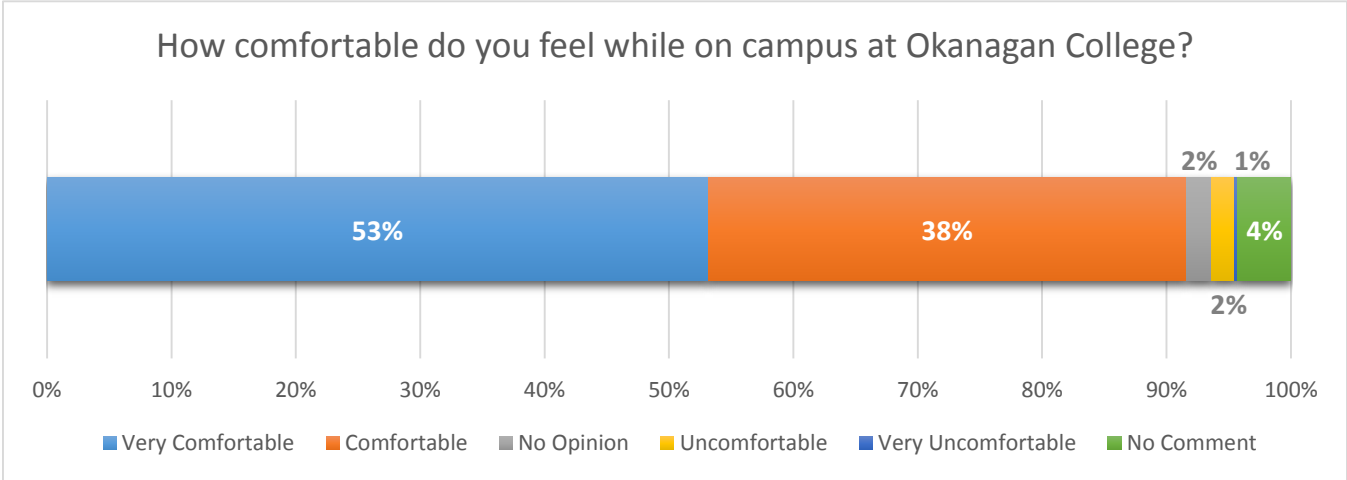

(Optional) Please clarify:

With only 14 respondents providing further insight, several indicated they did not often stay on campus after class. A large majority spoke of the atmosphere on campus being a friendly, welcoming and inclusive environment. Some responses include:

- I don't usually stay after my classes
- I find that the high school students that frequent the campus create a negative environment. They do not behave like college students and it shows
- Sometimes the actions or words around me by other students were disheartening and upset me.
- I enjoy all the activities that go on around campus
- I enjoy the diversity of the student body, and the welcoming atmosphere at OC
- I never see any bullying going on, everyone is pretty friendly

Overall, students were asked if they had any comments or suggestions for improvement regarding the services OC offers Aboriginal students. Respondents provided an array of input including more scholarships, enhanced student service and programming, improved/larger Aboriginal spaces, better signage and communication, as well as general praise for the current work and services in place. More specifically some responses include:

- Faculty workshop about residential schools so they can stay current with the issues that we face (at home with parents who've gone to residential school) and so they can understand our trepidations about going to school from k-12 and post-secondary because they are related
- Advertise at main doors of the building. I have been going to school at Salmon Arm campus for 2 years and it wasn't until January of this year did I manage to find my way into Caroline's office in The Gathering Place
- Maybe a bigger room so many more people can be in one space at a time. Need a bigger center room to gather in
- There needs to be more offered more regularly
- Be positive always towards any student. Students come across many barriers when it comes to education, go above and beyond when it comes to making sure all students are comfortable. Everyone feels in over their head... Make the students aware that there is help and resources to help with many different types of struggles that students have

Conclusion

We are encouraged that 93 per cent of survey respondents either agree or strongly agree with the statement “attending Okanagan College has been a good experience.”

Even though the overall survey response rate is only 17.5 per cent, the Aboriginal Student Satisfaction Survey continues to provide valuable information. Trends can be inferred from the survey results revealing areas in which Okanagan College has improved in service delivery and inclusion and revealing areas where improvement is still needed.

This survey is a useful tool in program, service and institutional planning. We are encouraged by the overall positive responses regarding the Aboriginal student experience and are committed to considering the thoughtful suggestions provided by the students who did complete the survey, to look at opportunities for changes and improvement.

OKANAGAN COLLEGE CAPITAL MASTER PLAN

2016-2035

SALMON ARM • VERNON • KELOWNA • PENTICTON

INTRODUCTION

In a post-secondary setting the Capital Master Plan (CMP) serves the essential purpose of providing a common understanding of how individual pieces come together to form a coherent whole. At its core, the plan must deal with the technical and functional arrangements that help to support the day-to-day operation of an institution. To be effective, a CMP must incorporate and represent the culture and characteristics of what makes an institution vibrant, and unique. Okanagan College's plan must capture what distinguishes it from other similar organizations. The plan helps to define the elements that collectively contribute to creating special places loved by inhabitants and visitors alike.

The educational setting is rapidly changing with the maturation of the information age. Post secondary institutions everywhere are grappling with fundamental questions about traditional program delivery and the manner with which students are engaged and how they learn. This offers enormous latitude for creativity and innovation. Flexible forms of learning are challenging the traditional approach to bricks and mortar. Departments and programs are being asked to provide creative service/program delivery using different forms of technology and pedagogy that requires sophisticated, new infrastructure in existing built spaces.

The Capital Master Plan guides decisions about buildings, infrastructure and grounds that together collectively create a place that is memorable, beloved by its students, staff and faculty, that is a cherished memory for alumni, that will launch careers and build character; a place that will be vibrant, alive, full of promise, achievement, creativity and innovation. A Capital Master Plan must provide a framework intended to enhance and expand a great place of learning. The focus question that was asked of the committee is: "do our existing campuses have the capacity to meet the needs of each region over the course of the next 25 years?" The answer for all four campuses is yes --with some qualifications. Where appropriate, some programs and services may be off campus.

A second question the Committee asked: Does the existing horizontal infrastructure-sewer, water, electrical, parking-meet our existing need and does it have the capacity to meet future growth needs? The answer to this question is a qualified yes. The current systems do meet the existing need of our campuses but all campuses will need a significant investment in additional capacity to accommodate future building and population growth on each campus over the next 25 years.

Going forward, this Capital Master Plan document forms the framework for the College's annual capital plan and five-year submission to the Ministry of Advanced Education. The plan will continue to evolve as it is shaped and informed by the strategic priorities of the College as established by the Strategic Goals and Directions and by planning documents such as the Long and Short Term Education Plans. Additional planning processes (for example, the work of the Indigenization and Internationalization Committees) will continue to inform the Capital Master Plan in setting goals and priorities over the long term.

The Capital Master Plan represents a roadmap for future growth and development on our campuses. The implementation of the plan will be guided by the planning documents of the College, government policy and direction, community opportunities, internal decision making processes and program and community needs. All plans are subject to change and amendment but this Capital Master Plan demonstrates that all our campuses have the capacity to incorporate future growth and meet community/ region needs.

CONSULTATION PROCESS

This plan began with a review of the 2007 Master Capital Plan and College statistics and numbers. The larger background study was directed at understanding the Okanagan regional context, its demographics, and historical growth. It was also a review of the types, physical condition and quantities of existing space. In parallel with this general and spatial study, there was a review of transportation, utilities, regulatory restrictions and limits. The information assembled from this research can be found in the three extensive appendices accompanying the plan. As these appendices were developed, there were intermittent reviews with a Master Capital Plan Steering Committee which consisted of the four Regional Deans and key members of the administration and the Director of Facilities until her retirement from the College. While this background material was being gathered, the College began the revision of its Strategic Planning Process which was completed in November 2015. The Master Capital Plan committee was able to consult widely during the strategic planning process and later during its own consultation process per below:

- Initial consultations sessions were held on all campuses in May, June and July, 2015
- Employees were given access to an on-line questionnaire summer/fall 2015
- In-class consultations were held with representative class groupings in October and November 2015 and September 2016
- Open feedback sessions for students were held in 2015 and 2016.
- Meetings with representative Department Chairs and individual departments were held in 2015
- Consultation with specific Aboriginal groups such as the Aboriginal Education Council were held in 2015 and 2016
- Consultation with student groups on campus including the Okanagan College Student Union and ENACTUS were held
- Specific sessions on the Capital Master Plan with the College Leadership Team were held in May 2015, May 2016 and at the Leadership Team meeting in late November 2015
- Sessions were conducted with Regional Advisory Committees
- Public consultations with community leaders were held at various times in 2016
- Campus consultations were held in the early Fall of 2016
- College Board was consulted in June 2016
- Information and input opportunities were offered at the Connections Conference in 2016
- Sessions with Okanagan College Foundation Board of Directors meeting in June 2015 and 2016

PLANNING PRINCIPLES

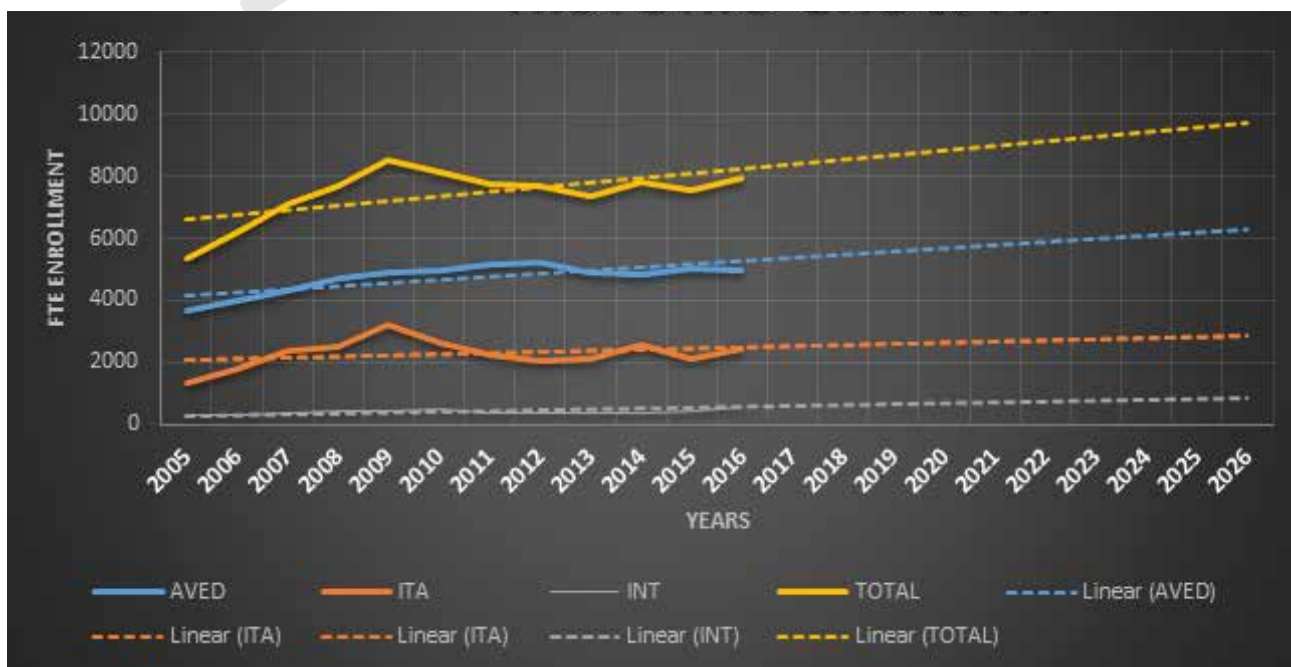

- Draw on the directions established in the College's Strategic Plan and Long Term Education Plan
These plans lay out the strategic objectives as an institution and the Master Capital Plan must be aligned and consistent with these objectives.
- Develop Campuses that Inspire
Make the campuses an inspiration to attend and become a part of.
- Develop Campuses that Integrate Programs and Services
We want the campuses to be accessible as if they were one place.
- Develop Campus Spaces That Are Conducive to Partnerships, Innovation and Incubation
Okanagan College is a place of innovation and a partner in the community and with businesses. Okanagan College will remain open to change and will be nimble in understanding and reacting to changes in the technologies important to all our programs.
- Anticipate Technological Change Recognize That Some Programs Are Specialized and Unique and May Require an Off Campus Location
Because some programs have unique needs, some off campus facilities are required - for example, the aviation program being located at the airport.
- Pursue Campuses as a Model of Sustainable Practice
Sustainability is a crucial objective for building, grounds, management practice and as a subject area.
- Develop Campuses That Integrate and Support Education, Research and Student Needs
Make the student experience responsive to needs and infused with both education and research.
- Support the Needs of a Diverse College Community
Okanagan College is a diverse community of learners, faculty and staff. Our plan must support this diversity.
- Create an Accessible Campus
In all senses of physical access, by multiple modes of transportation and on foot, the campus is easily available and accessible to all.
- Build the CMP on the 2007 Plan
This plan is an extension of the plan developed in 2007 meant to update the content of that plan for use today. This version of the plan is expected to be reviewed every 5 years.

PLANNING ASSUMPTIONS

- Student FTEs are based on reported actuals to the Ministry of Advanced Education to 2015-2016.
- FTE estimates for 2016-2017 and beyond are based on historic growth trends. The FTE measure is based on the fiscal year April 1- March 31.
- Enrolment projections are based on the Long Term Education Plan, the Annual Education Plan, the Industry Training Authority Training Plan and projected student/employer demand regionally.
- Expansion will occur in existing programs as well as new programs currently in development.
- The College FTE rate was 109% of target in 2015-2016; expects to continue to meet, or exceed, its FTE targets.
- Anticipated growth is proportional to population growth, demand and skills shortage.
- Where appropriate, the College will develop projects that will be based on partnerships with the private sector.

ENROLMENT HISTORY AND PROJECTIONS

SUSTAINABLE CAMPUSES

In 2016 the College's new Strategic Plan incorporated the Key Direction of Focusing on Organizational Sustainability: "Human and financial resources, infrastructure, and environmental challenges that will accompany anticipated demographic, economic, and social changes." All of these key components of sustainability affect the Capital Master Plan's development. During the Strategic Plan discussions and the early consultations around the Capital Master Plan, it became clear that the goal of organizational sustainability must include considerations beyond immediate environmental concerns. Sustainability included financial sustainability that went beyond balancing the College's budget but also addressed the long term viability of programming, services and our facilities. This larger interpretation intersects with the Capital Master Plan in a number of areas.

Employees were vocal in trying to impress upon the committee the need for basic amenities such as showers on campus for those who ride, walk or run to work. Students and employees commented on the need for year-round food service, appropriate spaces for contract training and specialty programming, larger Aboriginal gathering spaces, student housing and working environments that take into account the quality of space, cleanliness and access all need to be considered.

A second Key Direction from the Strategic Plan that intersects with Sustainability is "Serving and Engaging the Community." Many of the consultation sessions on all the campuses discussed the need to be involved and to invite the community on campus. Often this related to having the capacity to host events or hold conferences or workshops on topics that would involve the community and the students. The message was received that we want the community to feel welcome on campus and to feel that the campus belongs to everyone.

To that end campuses require strategic landmarks, an updated, fresh appearance, good, clear signage, walkways and access points that incorporate appropriate landscaping and accessible parking and public transit. Included in this direction was the idea that the community should be welcomed on campus to occupy commercial space that could enhance service for students, staff and the local residents.

Specific examples that came up were commercial space that might include food service outlets that support the campus and community, speciality stores such as a pharmacy, and a medical clinic that could be used by the public as well as staff and students. There was discussion of partnering to construct student housing, either on site or in the vicinity of all the campuses.

In support of the Strategic Plan the College is also developing a Sustainability Plan that will incorporate a number of key directions and recommendations that pertain to the Capital Master Plan. The draft sustainability plan includes ensuring that College projects minimize the impact on the environment, significantly reduce our greenhouse gas emissions and significantly reduce waste from the full range of College operations.

OUR CAMPUSES - WHAT WE HEARD

The internal and external consultation sessions provided important feedback and advice that normally would be outside the scope of a Capital Master Plan. This information will inform future campus projects intended to modernize, update and refresh existing spaces.

- The need for improved maintenance and modernization of existing facilities. (Paint, carpet, lighting, outdoor maintenance such as parking lots).
- Improved groundskeeping/landscaping creating or enhancing inviting open spaces.
- Improved walkability/ biking on campus.
- Way-finding signage and strategic landmarks that will improve campus access and create a more welcoming and informative environment.
- Event/corporate training spaces that provide an upscale experience.
- Transportation locally and parking issues that are somewhat unique to each campus but require a College-wide response.
- Flexible classrooms and furniture that accommodate technology and provide learning spaces that can be adapted to different styles.
- Right-sizing and repurposing existing spaces to accommodate current uses.
- Student meeting spaces that allow for technology and group study.
- On three of the campuses the desire for larger, more culturally sensitive Aboriginal spaces that reflected Aboriginal culture including, for example, architecture, signage, colour and use of space.
- Inter-campus transportation - finding ways to move students and staff between campuses in a sustainable way.
- Student spaces that were flexible, had natural light, and created opportunities for social interaction and study.
- Student Services that are centrally located and accessible on all campuses.
- Discussion of relevant commercial space on all campuses but particularly in Kelowna. Examples of commercial activity identified by employees and students included a new "Infusions Restaurant" located in a more prominent, public location. A larger campus store and services such as a medical clinic or a small grocery store could be used by students, employees and the immediate community.
- Food was very important on all campuses- variety, availability and access.

SALMON ARM CAMPUS

Trades Building and Site

HIGHLIGHTS FROM SALMON ARM

Okanagan College owns two sites in Salmon Arm: the main campus, located just off Highway 1, and a trades building and site in the municipality's industrial area. Access to the campus from the highway is via a circuitous route and the campus is nestled within a precinct of buildings that include an arena, curling centre, lawnbowling centre, and a recreation centre.

A 2014-15 Ministry of Advanced Education report showed 56 per cent campus utilization. There is adequate classroom physical space to allow for growth in programs and adequate building space on campus to permit for new buildings and repurposing existing space to suit specific program needs. That could include relocation of some trades programs, although some programs (welding, carpentry, for example) might not be appropriate for the campus location, which is near residential property.

For several years there has been considerable community interest in possible relocation of college activities closer to the municipality's downtown. The Board of Governors had indicated that administration should continue to be open to opportunities as they arise and work with community agencies to explore such opportunities if enrolment growth, program development or development options warrant.

Current FTE 2015-2016 Audited Report	368 FTE
Current building space	4,052.15 sq. m
Projected space when fully built out	9,922.15 sq.m
Student capacity at 100 per cent utilization with current space 555 FTEs
Student capacity at 100 per cent utilization when fully built out 1,454 FTEs

The current campus location can support significant enrolment and program growth for the foreseeable future. Consultation and research provided a range of opportunities for development and improvements at the campus including:

- Flexible spaces that are right sized- in particular creating the opportunity for student, group work and meeting spaces.
- Future classroom space for multi-purpose programming.
- Student study/social spaces- an open atrium space.
- Way-finding improvements from the highway in particular.
- Recreational space on campus for employee and student use (this was a separate issue from the use of the community centre next door.)
- Student housing.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM VERNON

The Vernon campus of Okanagan College is located within the municipality of Coldstream, immediately east of Highway 97 in a beautiful and striking location. Parts of the 14.2 hectare site – steep coulees - present challenges for siting and building facilities and infrastructure. The site is bounded on the north by a recently-constructed athletic centre and sports field (owned by the Regional District of the North Okanagan on land leased from the College). There are community gardens occupying a flat portion of the site directly south of the parking lot at the south of the entry drive.

A 2014-15 Ministry of Advanced Education report shows 52 per cent utilization. The existing facility has sufficient space to accommodate general growth over the near term. There is need to build purpose-built trades space on campus to accommodate existing programs currently located in leased space. Developing shop space on campus will allow for improved utilization of existing campus classroom space.

Consultation and research provided a range of opportunities for development and improvements at the campus and trades facilities including:

- An on-campus trades facility capable of accommodating the rotating trades and additional trades opportunities and/or improvements to the existing trades facility to house additional programs
- Modernizing existing space by creating opportunities for natural light in social and study spaces; supplementing existing space to include opportunities for an atrium type space that would take advantage of the views, using the space that is currently a breezeway between the main campus building and the cafeteria
- Student housing
- Way-finding improvements.
- A new, enhanced Aboriginal gathering space.
- Expanded multi-purpose programming space.
- Repurposing existing spaces and right-sizing classrooms.

Current FTEs 2015-2016	722.5
Existing built space	8,656.58 sq. m
Proposed build out	15,869.77 sq. m
Student capacity at 100 per cent utilization with current space 1,402 FTEs
Student capacity at 100 per cent utilization when fully built out 2,742 FTEs

HIGHLIGHTS FROM KELOWNA

The College's largest campus is located in Kelowna. In the wake of the 2004 decision to change the post-secondary landscape in the region to include a campus of UBC Okanagan and a separate Okanagan College, the Kelowna campus has been transformed with new space to accommodate new and existing programming. Those projects include a daycare centre, the Centre for Learning, and a major renovation and expansion of trades facilities. A number of other projects are in process in terms of planning. The College and province are exploring options for redevelopment of the Health building and for development of other spaces that would incorporate expanded culinary arts programming, residences, commercial space, additional classrooms, recreation space, and Aboriginal lounge space.

The growth in the student and staff complement has been accompanied by parking issues, especially during peak periods. Those have been partially alleviated by leasing nearby off-campus parking space.

A 2014-15 Ministry of Advanced Education report indicated classrooms and labs are at 72 per cent utilization, while shop space is at 126 per cent. Overall campus utilization (2015-16) is 81 per cent.

Consultation and research described a range of opportunities for development and improvements at the campus including:

- Additional program space for many program areas. For example, the current proposal for a new Health building and then the consequential changes that can happen once the old building is demolished. This proposal includes purpose-built lab space, classrooms, and shops.
- Additional opportunities for commercial space- for example a larger book store, larger culinary arts space and restaurant, improved cafeteria, possible commercial space associated with student services (i.e., a medical clinic).
- Improved recreational facilities and the addition of a gym.
- Additional student meeting/study/social space and student union space.
- Additional corporate training space as well as event space (college events such as graduation or community events).
- Administrative space for offices and support services as well as student services.
- Student housing.
- A new, enhanced Aboriginal gathering space.
- Infrastructure improvements including drainage and sewage lines.
- Improved efficiency of buildings by upgrading older buildings and improving ventilation and heating.
- Improved out door spaces with cycling and walking paths that are well lit and form clear pathways between and around buildings on campus.
- Parking/transportation options to and from campus-parking on campus.
- Storage and service vehicle access.
- Strategic landmarks, way-finding and main gates to provide a welcoming entrance.

Current FTEs 2015-2016	5,061 FTEs
Existing built space	52,937.57 sq. m
Proposed build out	94,449.26 sq. m
Student capacity at 100 per cent utilization with current space 6,832 FTEs
Student capacity at 100 per cent utilization when fully built out 9,030 FTEs

HIGHLIGHTS FROM PENTICTON

Okanagan College's Penticton campus is situated on the southwest side of the city and is on land leased from Transport Canada. A non-directional beacon (NDB) is located to the east of the campus boundary and is one of the direction alternatives for an instrument approach to the Penticton airport. It impacts the development opportunities for the campus insofar as there are consequent restrictions on height and physical location of buildings. The campus is located adjacent to Highway 97. Construction of the Jim Pattison Centre of Excellence in Sustainable Building Technologies and Renewable Energy Conservation (opened in 2011) allowed consolidation of trades programs on campus and provided space and facilities for the human kinetics program and wine-related programs.

A 2014-15 Ministry of Advanced Education report showed 55 per cent utilization.

Consultation and research described a range of opportunities for development and improvements at the campus including:

- A daycare facility on the north-east corner of the campus.
- A working/teaching winery that includes program space for Food, Wine, Tourism and Viticulture.
- Student Housing., including off-campus partnerships with private developers.
- Expansion space for multi-purpose programming on the north-west side of the Sunoka building.
- A new, enhanced Aboriginal gathering space.
- Way-finding on campus.
- Walking paths at the entrance: additional sidewalks to address safety.
- Re-purposing existing space (old cafeteria).

Current FTEs 2015-2016	834
Existing built space	10,846.49 sq. m
Proposed build out	13,391.49 sq. m
Student capacity at 100 per cent utilization with current space 1,545 FTEs
Student capacity at 100 per cent utilization when fully built out 1,576 FTEs

CONCLUSION

The Capital Master Plan is an attempt to look forward into the future and anticipate the needs and changes in post-secondary generally, and Okanagan College specifically, around the built environment and the future needs of teaching and learning. The plan demonstrates that our current campuses have the land mass necessary to meet the identified expectations for the next 25 years. Priorities on each campus will be determined by the opportunities, community expectations and programming needs of the College. Government priorities, economic development opportunities, community expectations, private partnerships and available funding will help inform the College's strategic planning which will in turn, set the capital planning priorities for the College.

The College currently has an Annual Capital Plan and a Five-Year Capital Plan submitted to the Ministry of Advanced Education. The proposed Trades facility in Vernon, the Trades Training House in Kelowna, and a childcare facility in Penticton are projects that are either started or close to being approved. Ongoing investment in horizontal infrastructure, modernization of buildings and grounds, the re-purposing of existing space and establishing new sustainability goals for college operations, is either underway or the College is planning to undertake these measures starting in the next budget cycle. It is anticipated that the work currently being done by the Indigenization and Internationalization task groups will provide valuable insight and suggestions on how the campuses can be transformed into more welcoming, open, friendly and culturally inclusive centres of learning.

The research and the consultation process revealed a number of other projects that, if pursued, would greatly enhance the operation and livability of our campuses. Transportation is a key element of all Capital Master Plans. The perceived lack of parking in Kelowna remains a common concern by users. Public transportation, or lack thereof, also comes up on all campuses. An intra-campus bus system that included access to Wi-Fi while on the bus, was identified in Penticton, Vernon and by some in Kelowna. A transportation study that looked at solutions to single-occupant vehicles on all our campuses would also have the opportunity to explore how we get our students and employees up and down the valley in a cost effective and environmentally sustainable way.

Partnering with all levels of government and the private sector also comes forward as an important element in all our campuses' continued growth and development. Student housing and improved recreational facilities may require private investment. Identifying these projects now will allow our campuses to be in a better position to take advantage of the opportunities as they emerge.

Remaining open to the possibilities for new partnerships and being prepared to take advantage of funding opportunities as they emerge, will assist the College in achieving its goals and maintaining quality campuses that continue to meet educational and community goals.

Recommended Motion:

“BE IT RESOLVED THAT the Board approve the program revision: Health Care Assistant Certificate, as recommended by Education Council and as presented”

Health Care Assistant Certificate

Program revision

- Program description
- Revision of courses (hours)

Rationale:

To align with the 2015 Health Care Assistant Provincial Curriculum. The change includes the addition of ‘acute care’ to the program description, and shifts hours from one HCA course to two other existing HCA courses.

Program description:

Current:

The 745-hour program is approximately a 25-week or six-month program (based on a typical 30-hour instruction week) designed to provide students with opportunities to develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes necessary to function effectively as direct client care providers and respected members of the health-care team, in community and facility settings. Under the direction and supervision of a health professional, graduates provide person-centred care aimed at promoting and maintaining the physical, emotional, cognitive, and social well-being of clients/residents. Upon successful completion of the program, graduates are prepared to work in any level of continuing care, including: home support, adult day care, assisted living, and complex care (including dementia care units).

Recommended Motion:

“BE IT RESOLVED THAT the Board approve the program revision: Sustainable Construction Management Technology Diploma, as recommended by Education Council and as presented”

Sustainable Construction Management Technology Diploma

Program revision

- Addition of courses
- Deletion of courses
- Delivery format
- Program description
- Program outline
- Resequencing of courses
- Revision of courses

Rationale:

The major structural change to the program consists of condensing the delivery of the curriculum over two years (4 terms) instead of the current three-year (6 term) delivery. The program revision is intended to provide the students with an improved sequence in courses, as well as the addition of key courses addressing the current gaps needed to expand understanding of construction surveying and regenerative design. The proposed SCMT 2-year program is very comparable to the current delivery of the CIEN program in terms of contact hours per week, credits per term, and overall program contact hours and credits. The major changes that would need to occur consist of changing course codes to reflect their 2nd year placement as opposed to a 3rd year placement, as well as reflecting these new changes in the course prerequisites. This program change will also expand the reach of the program to international students.

Program description:

Current:

The Sustainable Construction Management Technology (SCMT) program is a three-year diploma program, based at the Centre of Excellence at Okanagan College's Penticton campus. SCMT is a forward-thinking program designed to enable, empower and inspire the emerging generation of construction managers and technologists to deliver true sustainable development. The graduates will play a leading role in the construction industry - both in Canada and internationally - to deliver projects that achieve high sustainability performance and contribute to the economic, environmental, and social well-being of communities.

The program provides learners with the technical, business and interpersonal skills required to effectively manage construction projects of varying size and complexity, emphasizing sustainable design principles. Learners develop the technical knowledge and skills required to construct all scales of infrastructure projects - from planning through to completion. Learners study scheduling and managing construction projects as well as estimating material requirements and costs.

In consultation with industry-experienced practitioners, both internal and external, the SCMT program has been designed with five major themes which address the important aspects of the built environment. The five themes are as follows:

- Building Studies;
- Commercial Studies;
- Sustainability Studies;
- Core Studies; and
- Projects.

The first two themes address the core study areas of construction management from commercial and building aspects. These include quantity surveying, estimating, procurement, planning, processes and construction. The sustainability theme provides the needed foundation and a life cycle thinking approach to green building principles, existing infrastructure, and renewable energy technologies. The core studies theme includes courses on business management, math, communications, law, civil engineering and human resources. The first and third year projects consist of practical laboratories that may take place in the college or elsewhere in the local community or further afield.

The program follows the Problem-Based Learning (PBL) approach to influence, shape and guide the emerging generation of construction professionals. The learning outcomes of the program will follow a problem-based approach, so that students can influence the resiliency of projects in the industry in which many graduates will find themselves working. Learners have an opportunity to gain work experience by participating in paid co-op work with a construction-related company. Such experience increases learners' employment opportunities and their value to their employers upon graduation.

On graduation, there will be a wide choice of career opportunities as a site superintendent, general contractor, subcontractor, material supplier, field coordinator, quantity surveyor, estimator, inspector, project manager, scheduler or contract manager. The business elements of the program may also offer opportunities to establish a new construction company - one which specializes in sustainable development and construction.

The College intends to obtain certification with the Applied Science Technologist and Technicians of British Columbia (ASTTBC) and the Canadian Technology Accreditation Board (CTAB).

Proposed:

The Sustainable Construction Management Technology (SCMT) program is a two-year diploma program, based at the Centre of Excellence at Okanagan College's Penticton campus. SCMT is a forward thinking program designed to enable, empower and inspire the emerging generation of construction managers and technologists to deliver true sustainable development. The graduating students will play a leading role in the construction industry - both in Canada and internationally - to deliver projects that achieve high sustainability performance and contribute to the economic, environmental, and social well-being of communities.

The program will provide students with the technical, business and interpersonal skills required to effectively manage construction projects of varying size and complexity, emphasizing sustainable design principles. Students will develop the technical knowledge and skills required to construct all scales of infrastructure projects - from planning through to completion. Students will also learn to estimate material requirements, costing, scheduling and managing construction projects.

In consultation with industry-experienced practitioners, both internal and external, the SCMT program has been designed with five major themes which address the important aspects of the built environment. The five themes are as follows:

- Building Studies;
- Commercial Studies;
- Sustainability Studies;
- Core Studies; and
- Projects.

The first two themes address the core study areas of construction management from commercial and building aspects. These include quantity surveying, estimating, procurement, planning, processes and construction. The core studies theme includes courses on business management, math, communications, law, civil engineering and human resources. The first and second year projects consist of practical laboratories that may take place in the college or elsewhere in the local community or further afield. With the exception of the three Business Administration courses, all courses within these streams require face-to-face delivery.

The sustainability theme provides the needed foundation and a life cycle thinking approach to green building principles, existing infrastructure, and renewable energy technologies. This stream (11 courses) is delivered through blended learning, which includes face-to-face and online delivery. The face-to-face component consists of an intensive 2-3 day delivery during the first week. After the intensive hours are completed in the first week, these courses will be delivered online over the remaining twelve weeks of each term.

The program follows the Problem-Based Learning (PBL) approach to influence, shape and guide the emerging generation of construction professionals. The learning objectives of the program will follow a problem-based approach, so that students can influence the resiliency of projects in the industry in which many graduates will find themselves working. Students will have an opportunity to gain work experience by participating in paid co-op work with a construction-related company. Such experience increases students' employment opportunities and their value to their employers upon graduation.

On graduation, there will be a wide choice of career opportunities as a site superintendent, general contractor, subcontractor, material supplier, field coordinator, quantity surveyor, estimator, inspector, project manager, scheduler or contract manager. The business elements of the program may also offer opportunities to establish a new construction company - one which specializes in sustainable development and construction.

The College intends to obtain certification with the Applied Science Technologist and Technicians of British Columbia (ASTTBC) and the Canadian Technology Accreditation Board (CTAB) for this program.

Submission of Information from Senior Staff to the Board of Governors

REPORT TITLE

Fall 2016 Stable Enrolment report

DATE

Nov. 15, 2016

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

For example: • Purpose • History • Other relevant information

This report is to provide the Okanagan College Board of Governors with a synopsis of September 2016 enrolment numbers at stable enrolment date, the last date to add an academic course.

This report gives a partial picture of the overall enrolment of students at Okanagan College. It includes all programs where students begin their studies in September, but reports incomplete enrolments for programs with start dates prior or following the beginning of September. It also does not include any Continuing Studies enrolments. These counts do include International and Domestic students but not exchange, visiting, or unclassified academic students.

There are two different methods of counting students used in this report:

- 1) Headcount: counts individual students in a program, regardless of the number of courses the student is taking. It does not differentiate between full time and part time students; each is counted as one headcount.
- 2) Credits: counts the total number of billing credits being taken in a discipline area. This is directly related to tuition revenue.

Credits are reflective of all students taking a particular course; for example, an English course may have students from Arts, Business and Science attending. This is thus quite different from headcount, which simply counts students enrolled in a particular program. Credits give the best measure of tuition revenue.

Fall 2016 overall headcounts are up 3 per cent compared to fall 2015, headcounts increased in Kelowna, Vernon, and Penticton campus. Headcounts decreased from fall 2015 in Salmon Arm campus and distance learning.

September Headcount, all programs

Okanagan College Domestic and International Headcount	2014	2015	2016	OC Headcount % change fall 2015 to fall 2016
Kelowna	4149	4318	4509	4.4%
Vernon	652	674	699	3.7%
Penticton	678	666	687	3.2%
Salmon Arm	280	293	280	-4.4%

Total	6128	6342	6521	2.8%

The inclusion of these would result in Kelowna headcounts increasing by 3.5%, Vernon headcounts increasing by 6.9%, Penticton headcounts decreasing by 5.5%, and Salmon Arm increasing by 23.4%. Distance would be down very slightly (-0.2%), and overall headcount would also be stable, up by half a percent.

Stable Enrolment: Report for Board of Governors September 2016

Headcounts for the Grade 12 classes in the Okanagan College region are projected to remain lower for the next four years before increasing beginning in 2021.

Grade 12 enrolments have decreased across the region from 2014 to 2016, except for the North Okanagan, which has increased by just over one per cent. The largest decrease was in the Central Okanagan, where enrolments decreased by almost nine percent.

The Trades September headcount is up by five per cent from fall 2015 to fall 2016. Trades intakes often vary from year to year. There is no trades training that is done via the distance office, although there is some programming that is conducted by distance. This activity is reported by the Kelowna campus usually (see Appendix).

Appendix: Notes on the Stable Enrolment Report

Every fall and winter the Registrar's office produces a series of enrolment reports leading up to and including stable enrolment date. Stable enrolment date is the last day that students may add and drop classes without penalty. It is after this day that the class numbers should be considered stable. Students may, of course, drop classes later in the semester, but usually without refund.

This report is derived from the Registrar's Enrolment Report drafted after stable enrolment date. It should be noted that this report is especially useful to describe academic enrolments, and enrolments in those programs that follow an academic schedule, September to April. However, not all college programs follow this timeframe or the same billing business practices. For these non-academic programs, this report has challenges. In terms of billing for many non-academic programs, fee codes and billing are determined not by individual course (billing credits), but may be attached entirely to the first course section of the program, and not to each course. Thus billing credits may not appear as expected in this report. As well, there may be anomalies between a student's "home" or declared campus, and the campus he or she are actually attending, even for academic programs. For example, a Kelowna student may be travelling to Penticton to attend Criminal and Social Justice courses. In this case, the student would be counted in the Kelowna headcount but billing credits would appear in the Penticton campus. Thus a headcount by campus may not yield the expected billing credits by campus.

Several programs in trades, health, and social development rotate between the smaller campuses year to year, providing access to programming to smaller markets. Because of this, headcounts at campuses may fluctuate.

Another issue is that students may be listed in a program but also attending general interest or skills training courses. This report has been left as it is with these anomalies left in. These are easier to identify with smaller campuses, but are much more difficult to determine in larger ones. Tracking all of these would be difficult.

There is no "one size fits all" enrolment report. This report is a reflection of academic programs. Other reports complete the view for the College's enrolment picture, including the interim and final FTE reports.
