Resources on Archives & Indigenous Issues (open access)

Notes:

- These aren't divided by country as Indigenous peoples in different countries can face similar recordkeeping challenges and share similar experiences with the colonial past and present.
- As the division of archives, libraries, museums, etc., can serve to over-simplify Indigenous knowledge and knowledge systems, there are some resources which overlap fields.
- There are a lot more resources that aren't open access.
- In the interests of space, I haven't included some materials that could be considered applicable to the discussion because they don't explicitly address Indigenous issues.
- Links correct (and open access) as of 15 March 2016.
- This list is a work-in-progress and will be revised; most of the categories below will have additions.
