

Putting a bunch of audio files into Moodle using the Book tool

Prepare all your audio files as .mp3 format on your computer

Setting up the Book

In your Moodle course turn on editing.

Add a resource and select Book. Give it a name and a summary.

For the Chapter numbering you can select none, numbers, bullets or indented.

Bullets doesn't seem to do anything. Indented works when there are subpages.

Save and return to course.

Adding files to the book

Click on the name of your book to open it.

Enter a chapter title.

In the content section enter some descriptive text for the audio file, then click the Moodle media button on the menu bar.

Click Find or upload a sound, video or applet. Upload your audio file.

Do not be alarmed that it shows up as a string of blue text in the content section.

Select all your audio files and make them a bulleted list. This makes them stack closer together vertically.

Save changes.
