PENTICTON IN BRIEF

College showing off its programs

Okanagan College's Penticton campus is hosting a series of information sessions to bring prospective students up to speed on what the college has to offer.

Three evening sessions focus on distinct programming areas.

Thursday night's session featured information about associate degrees in arts and science, the diploma in criminal and social justice, business administration degrees, diplomas and certificates.

A range of health programs and continuing studies will be covered on March 6.

The final session will offer information on trades and apprenticeship programs and engineering technologies.

Sessions open at 6:30 p.m. with presentations beginning at 7 p.m. in the lecture theatre of the Ashnola building.

Each session will include information on adult and academic career preparation related to the area of study. Staff, instructors and advisors from the college will be on hand to answer questions and address specific needs of prospective students.
