The examples in this guide cover frequently used citation forms only. For more detailed information refer to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.), (BF 76.7 .P83 2020) and to the APA Style website at <https://apastyle.apa.org>

General rules

- Double-space your paper, including the reference list.
- Format reference list entries with a hanging indent (.5 inch or 1.27 cm).
- Arrange reference list entries in alphabetical order by the surname of the first author or by title if there is no author.
- Use only the initial(s) of the author's first name and middle name (if given).
- If the reference list includes two or more entries by the same author(s), list them in chronological order (oldest first).
- For articles or books, capitalize only the first letter of the first word in the title and subtitle. Capitalize all proper nouns.
- For journal titles, capitalize all significant words.
- Italicize journal titles and volume numbers. Do not italicize issue numbers. Italicize book titles.
- References cited in text must appear in the reference list and vice versa. The only exceptions to this rule are personal communications and secondary sources, which are cited in text only and are not included in the reference list.
- Any republished tables, graphs, or figures (including photographs and illustrations) must be clearly marked as reprinted or adapted, and the original source must be provided both in the text and in a full reference list entry.
- For both print and online works you should include a DOI (digital object identifier) where available in order to provide a complete citation. If your work does not appear to have a DOI, search for the title at crossref.org, using the metadata tab, to check if there is an assigned DOI.
- If an online work does not have a DOI but does have a URL (uniform resource locator), include the URL in some circumstances. See pages 298-299 of the APA Publication Manual for further guidance about DOIs and URLs.
